

Tushar M. Ranchod, MD, FASRS

Tushar M. Ranchod, MD, FASRS, grew up in the San Francisco Bay Area and completed his undergraduate studies at Stanford University and medical school at the University of California, San Francisco. Dr. Ranchod received his ophthalmology residency training at the University of Pennsylvania's Scheie Eye Institute with a subsequent fellowship in vitreoretinal surgery and disease at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, Michigan.

Dr. Ranchod has given talks at national and international meetings and was a recipient of the prestigious Ronald G. Michels Fellowship award. He is an assistant editor for RETINA. He has worked for a variety of early-stage technology companies for over 20 years. Dr. Ranchod founded BroadSpot Imaging Corporation and served as its CEO and then Chairman of the Board until the technology was acquired in 2021. He is a partner at Bay Area Retina Associates in the San Francisco Bay Area.